Alison Bruce has a degree in history and philosophy, which has nothing to do with any regular job she's held since. Author, copywriter, editor and graphic designer, she also manages publications for CWC.

Melodie Campbell has been a banker, marketing director, college instructor, comedy writer and possibly the worst runway model ever. She has over 200 publications and has won five awards for fiction. Melodie is the General Manager of CWC.

Gloria Ferris, a former document specialist and technical editor and writer, now writes paranormal and humorous mysteries. Her first novel, Cheat the Hangman, was shortlisted for the Arthur Ellis Unhanged Arthur.
